Penghu Erkan Historical Houses

A beautiful village, boasts unique architectural designs that will leave visitors in awe. The distinctive buildings and vintage shops offer endless photo opportunities. From the old stone walls and retro tofu pudding shops to the buoy-shaped stores, each has its own unique vibe.

Daguoye Columnar Basalt

was unearthed during quarrying, revealing basalt formations buried underground for thousands of years. This magnificent and imposing basalt rock wall is formed by the pentagonal and hexagonal jointed columns created when magma from the seabed rose due to the terrain then cooled and contracted.

Kuibishan Moses Parting the Sea

One of Penghu's eight scenic spots. At low tide, you can see a 300-meter-long "dragon" walkway over the sea. It's a typical land-connected island, and at low tide, you can see even more marine life.

Ita Thao Pier & Ita Thao Old Street

The Pier is an important base for yachts. Enjoy the lake & mountain scenery. Ita Thao Old Street is the most culturally rich & bustling street in Sun Moon Lake. Originally the main settlement of the Thao people, the old street blends rich Thao culture and cuisine, making it a must-visit for tourists to experience unique indigenous life and food.

Folk singer Pan Anbang Memorial Hall

He transformed emotions of missing his hometown in Penghu and his granny into lyrics & music, creating the song "Grandma's Penghu Bay." His former residence is a Japanese-style house built with bamboo, yellow mud and "Laogu Stone," a building material unique to Penghu. In memory of his life, his former residence was renovated into the Pan An-bang Memorial Hall
